RESOLUTION

On the Death of Mrs. Frances Marion Davidson of Bayou Sara Lodge No. 3, D. of R.

Whereas, it has pleased the Almighty Father to remove from our midst and lodge, our beloved Sister, and while in the midst of life we are in death; therefore we bow with humble submission to the will of the Most High. We cannot but view her leaving with a feeling of sorrow. During a long and faithful membership, she was always ready and willing to give her helping hand. Another link has been broken that bound us together, she being a devoted member of Bayou Sara Lodge No. 3, D. of R., for 30 years. She was also a member and Past President of the Rebekah Assembly for the State of Louisiana.

Resolved, That the heartfelt sympathy of this Lodge be extended to her bereaved husband and family.

THE LAST CHANCE GONE.

A traveler from the North, walking through the mountains of North Carolina, came on a cabin that gave unusual evidence of rural industry, says Harper's Magazine. Although it was only ten o'clock in the morning, the traveler decided to stop and ask for refreshment, since he might not come on anything so promising for many miles.

A tall, apparently ill-fated woman came to the door. She looked at the traveler in amazement, and seemed to be resentful when he made known his wants.

"We've et," she said in a reproachful tone. "Tom's gone to town to fetch corn meal."

The traveler suggested a glass of milk. Again the woman shook her head, while her sallow visage lengthened. "Tom went and forgot to milk the cow. He won't be back till evenin'."

That seemed to be the traveler's opportunity, both to show his good nature and to obtain a glass of milk.

"I'd be glad to milk her for you," he offered. "I was brought up on a farm."

Again the woman shook her head. "Ye can't, stranger." And this time her resentment was tinged with futile regret. "Tom rid the cow to town."

NOTICE, W. O. W.

On next Thursday, Aug. 12, at 8 p. m., West Feliciana Camp, W. O. W., will meet in regular session at Pythian Hall. Business of importance will be transacted and all members are urged to attend. The camp, in the future, will meet on the 2nd and 4th Thursday at Pythian Hall. All members take notice. JNO. M. BELL, Clerk.

Mr. E. Greene Davis of the Bank of Covington is spending several days here for the purpose of looking into the advisability of opening a bank. He finds that the obstacles are not insuperable, and while conditions are not ideal, are not worse than he expected, and therefore are not discouraging to the location of a new bank. The field in itself is a good one, and a bank properly started and inspiring confidence will do well here. Mr. Davis is one of West Feliciana's native sons of whom she is very proud, and a bank, started under the auspices of himself and his bank, has a ready-made claim at the very start, upon our people here. Mr. Davis says that if the bank be started local subscription of stock will only be asked for sufficient to secure local representation on the directorate.

After an illness of five weeks, septic fever developed and Mrs. Thos. Wilkinson, born Hattie Howell, died at her home near Laurel Hill, Wednesday, August 4. She was the eldest daughter of Dr. Chas. F. Howell. She leaves her husband, father, two sisters, and two small children. Mrs. Wilkinson was well-known and had many friends, besides a large family connection, all of whom mourn her untimely death.

Frankie Trocchiano, son of Peter Trocchiano, and who has been under treatment at the Hotel Dieu, New Orleans, is not doing so well, though thought slightly better earlier in the week. The physicians cannot diagnose his case, and have given him up. He will be brought home to-night (Friday.)

While training a young colt, one day this week, Everett Barrow, son of R. H. Barrow, broke his leg, just above the ankle, being quite a bad break. Miss Nell Jarvis, who is a trained nurse, rendered "first aid to the injured" until the physician reached him.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Irvine entertained with a delightful dance, Tuesday evening, for a small but congenial set of dancers. The evening was cool and the spacious, beautiful rooms rendered dancing a delight. Punch was served.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

During Friday evening's thunderstorm Mr. J. S. McGehee had two of his best mares and their two suckling colts all killed by one stroke of lightning on Woodlawn Farm: loss about three hundred dollars.

In Memory of Our Beloved Sister, FRANCES MARION DAVIDSON, Died Sunday, August 1, 1915.

At the dawning of the glorious Sabbath day, on the wings of morn, was borne the soul of our beloved sister, the mother of Bayou Sara Rebekah Lodge. She was loved by each and all of us for her kind and loving thoughtfulness of others. As a taken of the love and honor in which she was held the degree of chivalry was bestowed upon her by this lodge. She was chosen not only as meriting it for lodge work, but for her conduct in the daily walks of life. She received this honor at the Grand Lodge at Shreveport, La., last March. She was among the first to contribute toward the building of the Odd Fellows Home in Crowley and was an untiring worker toward the maintenance of the Home. Her own home was ever open to the homeless, her heart and sympathy to those in distress. She was a devoted mother and wife.

She has answered the call of the Grand Master above. Her soul is joyous within the Grand Lodge of ransomed souls above around the great white throne. Tired with the heat and burden of the years, sisters, husbands, sons and daughters, let us think of her as "Fallen Asleep in Jesus," that "Blessed Sleep, from Which None Ever Wake to Weep."

A Rebekah and One Who Loved Her.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The undersigned begs to announce his candidacy for delegate from this parish to the Constitutional Convention proposed to be held September 14, 1915, should the call for same be approved; and respectfully solicits the support of the citizens of West Feliciana.

S. McC. LAWASON.

DEATH OF PROMINENT WOMAN.

Mrs. Frances Marion Davidson, wife of J. R. Davidson, aged 76 years, died Sunday morning, August 1. Death came very suddenly, as she became ill only about three o'clock, the family physician was summoned, when her symptoms yielded to treatment, but after four o'clock heart failure set in, and with but a few pangs, and a smile on her lips, her spirit passed at 4:20. Mrs. Davidson had just returned on Friday from a visit of several weeks to friends in West Baton Rouge, and seemed unusually well, but it is apparent that she had never recovered completely from her fall down the stairs at the bank building in April: the shock to her nervous system, and actual internal injuries to her head being too great at her age, for her complete recovery, although she showed wonderful recuperative powers, and her clear brain and abounding cheerfulness never failed her.

The funeral was held from her home at the residence of her son, Gordon S. Davidson, taking place Sunday afternoon at five o'clock, with services in Grace Church and cemetery. In the absence of the rector, Rev. Dr. Wells of Woodville officiated. There was a very large gathering of people, composed for the most part of those who had known and esteemed her for many years, while the wet eyes and sober mien of many showed that a sincere friendship and love for her, animated their hearts, and the earthly parting was sealed by the tears of deep emotion.

Mrs. Davidson was born in Washington, D. C., and was reared and educated there, spending the years of her first marriage (to Charles McKim) in that city. Some years after his sudden death, while serving as an officer in the United States Navy, she married J. R. Davidson, and about thirty-five years ago they moved to St. Francisville, where the younger members of the family were born. She had eleven children, of whom four survive, Mrs. J. Q. Tempel, William B. and Gordon S. Davidson and Mrs. George Plettinger, all of this place. She was a communicant of the Episcopal church and reared her children in that faith. But it was in her fraternal work that Mrs. Davidson was pre-eminent. She was a charter member of Bayou Sara Rebekah Lodge No. 3, and had held every office in its gift, being secretary during the greater part of its existence, since the early eighties. She served as president of the Rebekah Assembly of Louisiana, and was a constant attendant upon its deliberations, and her influence was potent for good. Her death is the first in the ranks of the Assembly. She served a term as a member of the board of the Odd Fellows Home at Crowley, and was ever unfailing in her efforts for the Home and its inmates, taking a personal interest in each one. At the meeting of the Grand Lodge and the Assembly in Shreveport, last spring, her long and devoted services in behalf of Odd Fellowship were recognized by the conferring upon her of the Decoration of Chivalry by New Orleans Canton No. 1, Patriarchs Militant of the Department of Louisiana. The decoration jewel, a handsome one, was the gift of Bayou Sara Lodge No. 50, and was planned as, and achieved, a great and happy surprise for Mrs. Davidson. The event touched the high water mark of her fraternal career. She is the first and only Rebekah that has had this degree conferred for meritorious work done.

Mrs. Davidson was also a charter member of Lorraine Temple, Pythian Sisters, and was prominent therein. She filled several offices in the State Council of that order, reaching grand senior, and declining to aspire to grand chief.

Her family life was ideally happy, surrounded by the tender love of husband and children, and in the words of Scripture, "Her children arise and call her blessed; her husband also and he praiseth her." She had the gift of making and holding friends, due to her very real interest in them and all that concerned them. Above all other characteristics, Mrs. Davidson was young. Young not in a frivolous or childish way, but young in a heart that never felt the chilling touch of life-weariness or indifference to the happenings of the world, near and remote. Thus every day her soul strength was renewed, and she drank deep of that Fountain of Youth, which bubbles up only for those who love and appreciate life as a gift from the good God, only to be surpassed by the Fountain of Eternal Life that flows for those arrivals from earth to the sweet fields of Beulah. In its elysium her spirit now delights forevermore.

Mrs. Cornelia Evans, widow of John Evans, died at her home near Pinckneyville, Wednesday, and was buried Thursday at Oakland plantation.

"LOUISIANA'S OPPORTUNITY IN DRAFTING NEW CONSTITUTION"

(New York Commercial.)

The people of Louisiana want to develop their important resources of soil, of minerals, of forests and of navigable waterways, and the people of New Orleans want to develop commerce the "valley way." So they have called a constitutional convention for the purpose of adopting a modern code of fundamental law with which to replace their present lengthy and inflexible constitution, which had to be patched by amendment over and over again during the last few years.

New Orleans is now constructing a complete system of coordinative river-rail-ocean terminal and warehouse facilities, and plans to open a great industrial navigation canal through the city to connect the Mississippi river with an arm of the gulf in the rear. A million dollars is soon to be spent on a modern vocational trade school. A splendid system of modern sewerage, drainage and pure water supply has just about been completed. The entire city is now being rat-proofed as a permanent safeguard against a recurrence of bubonic plague. Reclamation of the fertile but wet alluvial lands all around New Orleans is making progress and many orange groves and farms now stand where marshes stood before.

It is quite natural therefore that the people of New Orleans and Louisiana should not be content to longer live under a constitution which, because of its restrictive character, checks their development.

Louisiana possesses great natural wealth and New Orleans holds a strategic position commercially. A sane, sound and liberal constitution under which to work and develop would undoubtedly help state and city in many ways.

Louisiana has in this constitutional convention a singular opportunity to show how successfully a democratic unit of government may deal effectively with a rather remarkable situation.

Properly drafted, the new constitution, framed to meet the needs of the new life opening before Louisiana, might well serve as a model for other commonwealths.

A little boy was once overheard saying to his pet rabbit:

"How much is seven times seven?"

There being no response from the rabbit, the boy said:

"How much is four times four?"

Still there was no response.

"Now I will give you an easy one. How much is two times two?"

Still the rabbit refused to respond.

"Well," said the boy, "I knew father was fibbing when he said rabbits are the greatest multipliers in the world!"

ORGANIZATION OF TAXPAYERS AND VOTERS.

August 4, 1915.

Editors The True Democrat:

Representing over a hundred associated taxpayers and voters of the parish, Col. T. Jones Cross presented to-day to the Police Jury the petition of those taxpayers against the expenditure of $25,000 for bridges at the present time.

Col. Cross, as attorney for said taxpayers, also investigated the legality of the methods of the Police Jury in the above matter and advised that so far their acts were within legal limits.

The associated taxpayers and voters believing that great improvement in the policy and method of administering the economic affairs of the parish is attainable will complete and maintain their organization and continue their efforts in that direction.

J. S. McGEHEE,
MATT GILMORE,
W. L. STIRLING,
Committee.

The Petition.

To the President and Members of the Police Jury:

The undersigned citizens and taxpayers beg leave to submit the following:

At the outset we wish to state that we are not opposed to good roads, good bridges and other public works that go to improve general conditions and contribute to the comfort, convenience and material advancement of our people.

But we are unalterably opposed to any wasteful and extravagant handling of the public funds which are entrusted to our state and parish governments, with the personnel of whom we have no quarrel.

The object sought by the undersigned is the establishment of an economic policy in parish affairs that will give the greatest good to the whole people for the money expended.

While refraining from personal criticism of any public body for mistakes of the past, we believe grave errors in public policy and injudicious expenditure of public money can be proven.

These things and the present movement to contract a bonded indebtedness to be spent on public works has commanded our attention, and caused a determination on our part to solicit your co-operation to avoid a repetition of past mistakes and bring about a change for the better. The economic condition of our people is such that they simply cannot meet high taxation. Deprived of our only nonperishable money crop, through the advent of the boll weevil, and having to depend on perishable catch crops for our every expense, we have nothing on which to base taxation for the purpose of experimenting in the building of public works of doubtful utility, and believe that only works of the greatest utility and necessity should be undertaken and performed in the most economical, systematic and business-like way.

For the foregoing reasons we beg to protest against the issuance of bonds at this time in any amount or the mortgaging of our future resources and revenues in any way.

We further deem the creation of any bonded indebtedness at this juncture in our affairs most inopportune, for the fundamental reason that no man can foresee what the course of the coming Constitutional Convention will be with regard to state taxation. Just what the convention will leave the parishes to tax is problematical. In the light of this uncertainty it would be clear unwisdom to incur future obligations involving thousands of dollars.

In the issuance of bonds and the making of public improvements, the interests of our own people and those who wish to cast their lot among us, however humble it may be, should be first considered and not those of real estate agents, land speculators and kindred gentry.

We beg to further register our protest against issuing said indebtedness as contemplated and suggest that we at least wait until the new constitution be adopted or rejected.

Should you determine to act however, we beg that you test the sentiment of the people on these questions at the coming primary to elect a delegate to the constitutional convention, instead of by petition of those favoring said issuance as being more in accord with democratic institutions.

In conclusion we consider it unwise at present to in any way pledge our future resources and revenues for any purpose, but especially for local improvements which we have done without for a century.

Respectfully submitted,
